

Out Of The Box Youth Financial Literacy Volunteers Needed!

It would be wonderful if all of our volunteers could participate in at least one of the sessions!

The JLB is very proud to be partnering with Out of The Box (OTTB), a not-for-profit youth financial literacy program. The program teaches students the skills necessary to master financial independence through educational classes on Banking, Budgeting, Investing, Securing and Maintaining Credit, and Entrepreneurship.

The JLB Board has been working diligently to recruit 100 students and organize the series.

The help of our Membership is necessary to ensure that this project goes smoothly and that the students benefit all that they can from the classes! Volunteers are needed to assist at all of the classes.

Here are the details:

Location: Washington Mutual Bank, 9 Dekalb Avenue, Brooklyn, New York 11201

Time: All sessions take place from 10am-2pm

Dates:

November 18, 2006	Kick-Off-Press Conference Washington Mutual, Jay Ellis & Teddy Andrews, Budgeting and Banking
December 2, 2006	J.P. Morgan Chase, Michael Bovina, Investing
December 16, 2006	Washington Mutual, Jay Ellis & Tracy Blackshear, Credit Mgmt
January 13, 2006	Entrepreneurship, Daniel Fisher, Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce, Small Business Solutions
February 3, 2007	Graduation (Parents, Donors, Media & Constituents) (date/location subject to change)

To sign up or for more information contact Michele Treacy at 917-853-0820 or placementchair@brooklynjuniorleague.org
contactus@brooklynjuniorleague.org